

14 November 2025

REFERENCE -Thanuki Senara Amaratunga

To whom it may concern

I am Megan King, the director overseeing the development my company's project "BIG-CAT" (Breakdown of Independence Goals Comprehensive Assessment Tool). This project is a joint venture between my company, Reach Care Support Coordination, and TNT OT, as well as Monash University IT department.

I am writing this reference letter in relation to my dealings with Thanuki Senara Amaratunga. Thanuki Senara Amaratunga, as part of their university course, was the BA,project lead for a team of students, responsible for creating and developing the "BIG-CAT" online tool. This tool is designed to assess the independence skills of participants (aged 10+) and create sub-goals that participants can work on to build up their independence skills.

Thanuki Senara Amaratunga showed strong project management and development skills in ensuring the project ran smoothly and achieved the required functionality. The quality was professional level and well beyond that expected by students.

During the four-month project, Thanuki Senara Amaratunga was responsible for coordinating team deliverables, setting achievable deadlines, liaising with team members, clients and other stakeholders, coordinating meetings including agendas and minutes, developing business, iteration, implementation and testing reports, ensuring university assessment deliverables were completed, as well as developing some of the front-end aspects of the product.

They have shown great organisational leadership qualities and persistence to ensure our needs were met to a high standard. Their communication skills were exceptional, they were personable and easy to work with, and brought a sense of humour to meetings even under the pressure of technical challenges and deadlines. They were resilient to those challenges and problem solved in an agile manner.

I believe that Thanuki Senara Amaratunga would be a great asset for any organisation, and I would highly recommend them to anyone who is seeking these qualities and experiences from an individual.

Kind regards,

Megan King
Director
0412 665 531
contact@reachcare.info
www.reachenhancedcare.com